

International Herbert Marcuse Society

October 9, 2021

Dr. Stefan Gandler
Universidad Autónoma de Querétaro (UAQ)
Santiago de Querétaro, Querétaro, Mexico

Dear Professor Gandler,

The board of directors of the International Herbert Marcuse Society is pleased to announce that you have been selected as the inaugural recipient of the Bolívar Echeverría Prize, awarded biennially by the International Herbert Marcuse Society, for an outstanding work (e.g., book, article, essay)—recently published in Spanish—that advances critical theory in the struggle for liberation. This honor is bestowed in recognition of your book, Marxismo crítico en México: Adolfo Sánchez Vázquez y Bolívar Echeverría.

The selection committee, composed of scholars from three continents, was unanimous in its voting. Your contributions are truly distinctive, provocative, and impressive.

¡Felicidades!

Warmly,

Andrew T. Lamas

Andrew T. Lamas
University of Pennsylvania
Secretary/Treasurer, International Herbert Marcuse Society

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Silvio R. G. Carneiro Universidade
Federal do ABC São Paulo,
BRASIL

Arnold L. Farr
University of Kentucky
Lexington, Kentucky, USA

Peter-Erwin Jansen
Hochschule Koblenz
Koblenz Karthause, GERMANY

Imaculada Kangussu
Universidade Federal de Ouro
Preto, BRASIL

Douglas Kellner
University of California
Los Angeles, California, USA

Andrew T. Lamas
University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA

Lauren Langman
Loyola University
Chicago, Illinois, USA

Terry Maley
York University
Toronto, Ontario, CANADA

Harold Marcuse
University of California,
Santa Barbara, California, USA

Robert Kirsch
Arizona State University
Phoenix, Arizona, USA

Savita Singh
Indira Gandhi National Open
University, New Delhi, INDIA

Sarah Surak
Salisbury University
Salisbury, Maryland, USA

Peter Marcuse, ex officio, emeritus
Columbia University

Charles Reitz, ex officio, emeritus
K.C. Kansas Community College